DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-3 and 5-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Yang (US 6,681,406). Yang discloses a trouser belt including a strap having first and second ends with two nonelastic portions (104,108) and a short elastic portion (106) therebetween which provides a limited lengthwise expansion of the strap, col. 2, lines 9-45. Further, a buckle (102) is attached to the first end to secure a portion (110) adjacent to the second end. Additionally, a conventional keeper on the strap is adjacent to the buckle to hold the second end of the belt. In addition, it is inherent that short elastic portion is hidden by the keeper when the belt is fastened about the waist.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 4 and 7 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims. Claims 4 and 7 are allowable because the prior art does not teach or suggest the recitation therein including a keeper being position between the first and second elastic strips.

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to Applicant's disclosure.
